THE LONG FIGHT FOR A CASTE CENSUS

MY VIEWS

The Congress has been an unwavering advocate for the caste census despite facing strong opposition. We welcome the government's shift in stance and decision to conduct this census. It is now imperative that the government undertake a systematic examination of the share of marginalised communities across all power structures. As we move forward, I remain committed to work towards the removal of the 50% reservation cap.

CASTE CENSUS IS PUTTING THE TRUTH ON THE TABLE

During a conversation with Professor Ashutosh Varshney at Brown University, Rahul Gandhi discussed the significant opposition to the caste census. He emphasised that India cannot progress toward becoming a more powerful and prosperous nation while excluding the majority of its population. The caste census, he explained, is about putting the truth on the table and including 90% of the population.
